Use Restrictions

A final version of the unpublished manuscript Not Your Father's VA is contained in this collection. Because of the unpublished status, the work may not be reproduced without permission from VHA. It has been retained in the collection because of the extensive work that Darlene did in the reviewing, editing, and proofing of the manuscript.

Due to the extensive size of this collection, there may still be files from media and published journals contained. Inclusion does not confer copyright; it was just missed during the weeding.

Administrative History

This collection was held on the VA shared drive network after Darlene Richardson's 2018 retirement as the VHA historian. It was transferred to the National VA History Center Archives in 2021. Upon transfer, it underwent extensive weeding. The primary content removed is the newspaper clippings and copies of published journal articles, most of which were copyrighted to the original creating body. Other materials weeded were from Ancestry, Fold3 and National Archives catalog. These materials are still available via those sources as well as various newspaper subscription services.

Preferred Citation

National VA History Center Archives; RG 3 Veterans Health Administration. Darlene Richardson Collection. [Folder Title], [Document Title]. [Reference URL if required.]

Collection Description

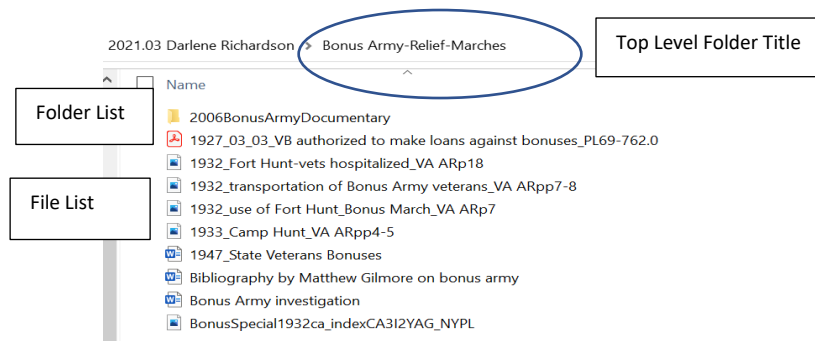

This collection consists of both working and research files Darlene created during her tenure. The research files document the variety of topics worked as well as create a trove of VA history, not just VHA. The working files document the execution of work, ranging from article proofing, book editing, research requests by agency personnel and the public, fact verification, and project assistance provided to the agency. Content ranges from the earliest days of the National Homes to the modern VA. All materials are digital, so the file creation dates do not reflect the content dates.

This collection contains drafts of work that may not reflect the final versions or opinions.

Because this was a transfer of electronic working files, the collection is sorted alphabetically by subject.

General Notes

The collection will undergo reprocessing several times. Due to the size of this collection and the electronic nature of mixed folders and single files, the finding aid is kept at the top level of folder access. The subject list below is the top folder title. The folder lists themselves contain nested folders and single files.
